ORACLE AMERICA, INC.,

No. C 10-03561 WHA

Plaintiff,

v.

GOOGLE INC.,

REQUEST FOR RESPONSE

Defendant.

16 Non-party LG Electronics, Inc., seeks to extend the deadline to file a motion for a 17 protective order objecting to Google's intended production of four documents to Oracle (Dkt.
18 No. 1484). LG states that it received notice of Google's intent to produce certain documents
19 that LG considered highly confidential on January 7, 2016. Google identified the specific 20 documents at issue on January 26. LG retained counsel to address this matter on February 5.
21 Pursuant to the protective order in this action, LG's motion for a protective order is due on 22 February 9. LG seeks to extend that deadline to February 23 because its counsel needs
23 additional time to get caught up on the complexity in this matter.

24 By NOON ON FEBRUARY 10, both sides should please state whether the production of 25 LG's documents was part of fact discovery (which closed December 4) or expert discovery
26 (which closed January 21). In either case, Google should please explain why it only informed
27 LG of which documents it intended to produce after both discovery periods had closed. Both 28 sides shall also state whether they oppose LG's request for an extension. Finally, LG should

1 please state why it did not retain counsel immediately after receiving notice that Google would
2 be producing documents LG considered highly confidential.

3 LG's motion shall not be due until, at the earliest, the date on which the Court rules
4 on its motion for an extension. LG's motion for a protective order should be directed at 5 Judge Ryu.
